

Summary of thesis

---

Name : Rasha Hossam ELDin Ibrahim

Date and place of birth: 5-2-1977 - Asuit

Degree: Master

Specialization: Prehistoric Archaeology

Supervisor: Prof. Dr. Ahmed Mohamed Saed

Title of the thesis : Mesolithic in Egypt and the Ancient Near East (Egypt -Iraq- Levant- Anatolia), comparative study

Summary :

This Thesis includes 277 pages, divided into: An introduction and two sections dealing with several countries ( Egypt, Iraq, Anatolia , Levant), followed by section three the comparative study then the conclusion and the results of the study, then references and indexes and list of forms and pictures.

Section one: divide into three part, deal with three countries

Part I: Talks about Egypt in Mesolithic, it's geographical location, climate, places of population activity, the archaeological remains found at each site, a summary

PART II: Talks about Iraq in Mesolithic, it's geographical location, climate, places of population activity, the archaeological remains found at each site, a summary

Part III: Talks about Anatolia in Mesolithic, it's geographical location, climate, places of population activity, the archaeological remains at each site, a summary

Section two:

Talks about Levant in Mesolithic, this section divided into two parts: the Kabarlian and the Natufian civilization , then a summary

Section three : a comparative study between all the countries.

Conclusion: Deals with the important results, similarities and differences between the archaeological remains found in the countries previously mentioned.

References: include Arabic references, translated references and foreign references, the most important websites which have been used.

Then list of pictures used including images, maps and forms which are (167 images)